

Haslingden Community Link

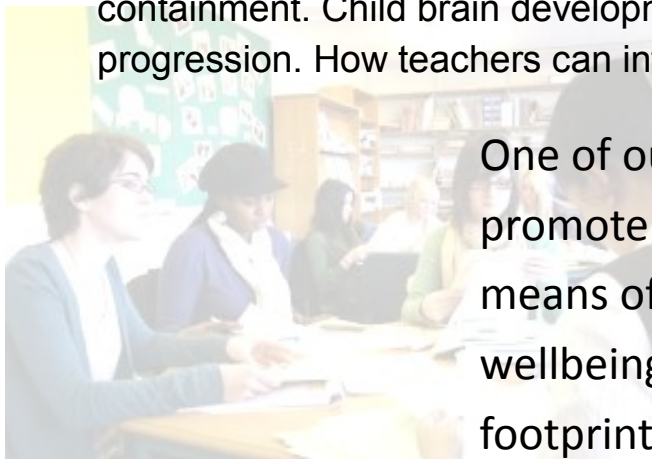

and Children's Centre.

Working to support future wellbeing.

Our Children's Centre teacher, a trained Solihull Trainer, works to deliver the approach to local nurseries, childminders, schools—both primary and high, and Further and Higher education, Health visitors, nurses and, most importantly, parents. By working with local teaching schools and training establishments, he has managed to get the Solihull Approach embedded onto some childcare courses and more recently into teacher education.

Feedback from evaluations valued; How to tackle a situation using containment. Child brain development and the impact on an individual's life progression. How teachers can influence a child's /pupils brain map

One of our remits as a Centre is to promote the Solihull approach as a means of maintaining health and wellbeing of our families within our footprint.

John, our Children's Centre teacher is a fully qualified teacher and trainer. He works to deliver quality EYFS provision but also lectures on the Honours degree in Childhood Studies for a local college. His main focus is on early intervention and speech and language. He believes that early intervention strategies need to be extended beyond health and have inroads into the training of newly qualified childcare professionals and teachers at all levels.

If you would like to contact him please email jbartlett@hcl.org.uk